INTERNATIONAL HOMŒOPATHIC COUNCIL

in order to prove that Homœopathy is world wide, advancing, honoured by various Governments, and therefore worthy of the close enquiry of any individual. The COUNCIL represents Homœopathy in 24 countries.

The aim of the I.H.C. is to safeguard Interests and advise with regard to Policies. It is the permanent representative of the Quinquennial International Homœopathic Congresses and its authority was conferred upon it by the International Congress of 1911.

The Hahnemann Monument, erected in the Scott Circle at Washington, D.C., U.S.A., on a site for which a special Act of Congress was passed, and Hahnemann is the only physician ever thus honoured!

London Homœopathic Hospital—1911.
(164 beds). Established 1854.

East Wing, Metropolitan (Homoeopathic) Hospital, New York. (Blackwell's Island).

Purely Homoeopathic since 1875; situated on Blackwell's Island in East River. (See Transactions of the Eighth Quinquennial International Homoeopathic Congress, London, 1911, a copy of which is in the British Museum Library, q.v.). It then had 1,374 beds. The municipal authorities of New York have adopted plans for annual additions to this Hospital, ranging from 1911 to 1915, which will add 1,153 more beds at a cost of $2,374,000, bringing the total beds in 1915 to 2,890 beds, in addition to which there are further contemplated plans which call for about 2,000 more beds, totalling 4,890 beds.

All buildings are of gray granite with steel beams and concrete floors and roofs, and every modern improvement.

This view does not give adequate impression of the group of buildings, without careful reference to above statistics and figures, which "prove" the confidence of New York in Homoeopathy. Medical Board, 25; Auxiliary Staff, about 60.

Supported by the Municipality of New York.

Nurses' Home, Blackwell's Island, New York.

Belonging to the Metropolitan (Homoeopathic) Hospital, New York.

This island, a part of New York City, is situated in East River and is reached by a ferry which takes about three minutes to cross. The island is about two miles long and one-sixth of a mile wide.

It would be difficult to find a more ideal location for a hospital, surrounded as it is by water, with spacious grounds and beautiful trees.

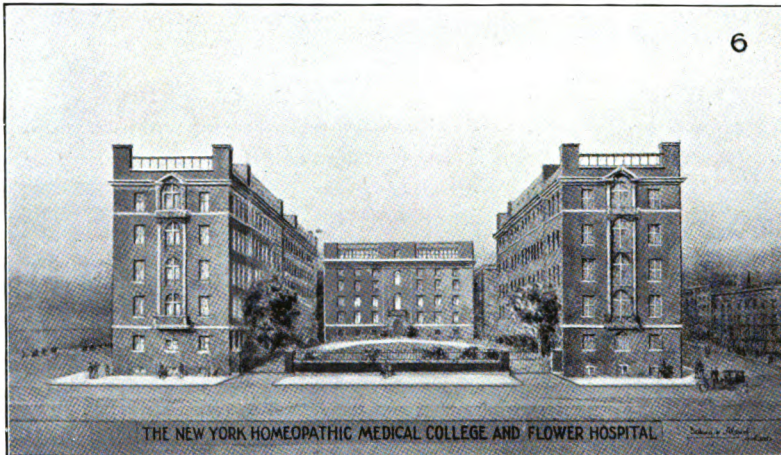

Hahnemann Hospital, New York.

Park Avenue and 68th Street.

About 100 beds. All cases except insane. Supported by investments, endowments and rental of rooms. For paying, part-paying and free patients. Established 1869.

The New Governor Flower Hospital.

(For full description, see North American Journal of Homœopathy, June, 1913).

The cost of this (Homœopathic) improvement will approximate ONE MILLION DOLLARS. The first portion, now under construction, is to be finished in October, 1913. The space to be occupied comprises a whole "block," i.e., bounded by four streets.

It is a clinical adjunct to the New York Homœopathic Medical College. (Founded 1860).

Homœopathic Hospital, Gross Lichterfeld, Berlin.

Governor Flower Homœopathic Hospital Motor Ambulance.

tra " Modern Installation of Motor Ambulance " for long runs and most serious cases, proving that we are in the front rank.

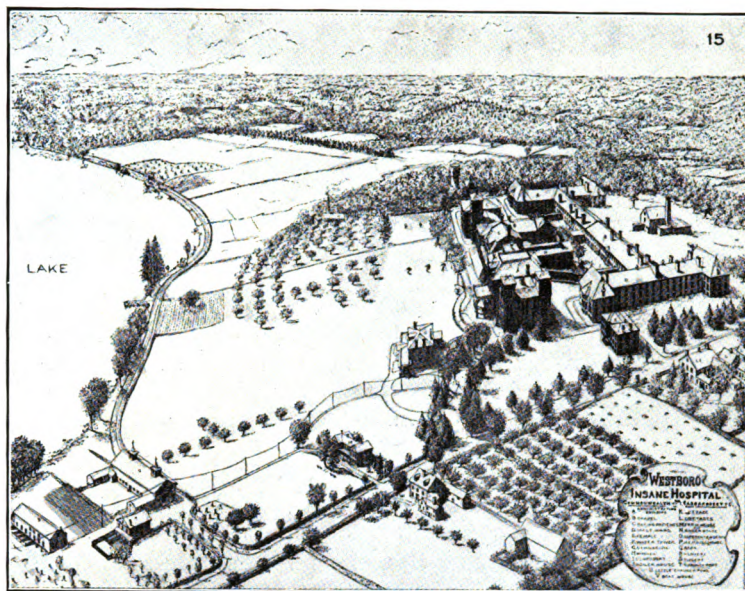

Over 2,000 "trips" were made in 1910. (See International Homœopathic Directory).

Westboro' State Homoeopathic Hospital, Mass. (for the Insane).

Westboro' has 1,000 beds. Percentage of recoveries, "all cases received," for last five years, 46.3. Average "Residence" reduced from 6.76 months to 3.47 months, and which rate is well maintained. (See New England Medical Gazette, Sept., 1912.)

Main Building, Southern California State Hospital, Patton (Homoeopathic). For Insane only.

Average recovery per cent. "all cases received" for fifteen years to 1910 is 44.36, as against four Allopathic Insane Asylums in California for same period, which is 30.03. per cent.

Supported by annual State appropriations, being $255,723 for 1910. It contains 1,296 beds (in 1911).

Westboro' (Mass.), Middletown (N.Y.), Watertown (Ill.), and Patton, have an average recovery rate of 43.31 per cent. as against fifteen Allopathic Insane Hospitals (eleven in New York State and four in California) with a rate of 28.80 per cent.

Herein Homoeopathic treatment produces 50 per cent. better results in the insane. What does this amount to in saving of rates and taxes in ten or twenty years?

Allentown Pennsylvania State Homœopathic Hospital.
Allentown, Pennsylvania, U.S.A. (For the Insane only).

Presented to the Homœopaths by the State. Opened October, 1912. Cost, $2,000,000 on land costing $58,000. Capacity at first—1,000 patients.

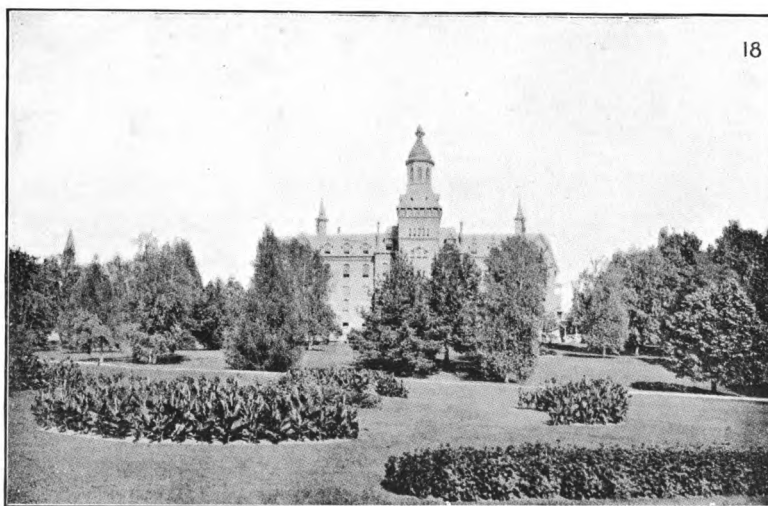

Full report kindly sent by Dr. Hy. I. Klopp, Superintendent.

Middletown State Homœopathic Hospital, New York State.

(For the Insane only).

West group, rear. Given to show the average size of many of the thirty-two buildings in this huge Asylum. Out foothold in this State was obtained by proper representation being made to the Legislature, that we had a very large following, and therefore should be permitted some share of State support. Our Homœopathic records, ever since, have kept this Hospital ours, and these records have enabled us to obtain one other large Hospital in the same state, and many other State Hospitals elsewhere. Statistics prove the value of our work to State and individual.

Gowanda State Homœopathic Hospital, New York State.

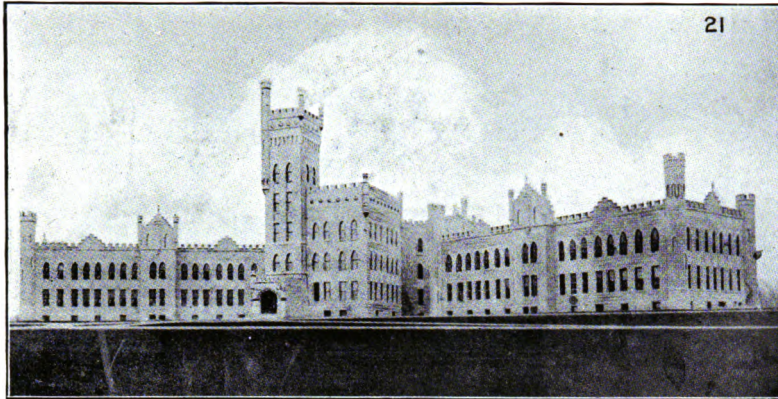

(For the Insane only).

First State Appropriation, 1894.

State appropriations for buildings have been about	$1,000,000.
Annual State appropriation for maintenance, 1912, was	$209,000.
Annual State appropriation for maintenance, 1913, is	$230,000.

Number of beds 1,109. "This institution will be enlarged, probably doubled, within the next few years. Percentage of recoveries 'on all admissions,' 32 per cent. Death rate on whole number treated, 5.1 per cent. (Probably the lowest death rate on record)."

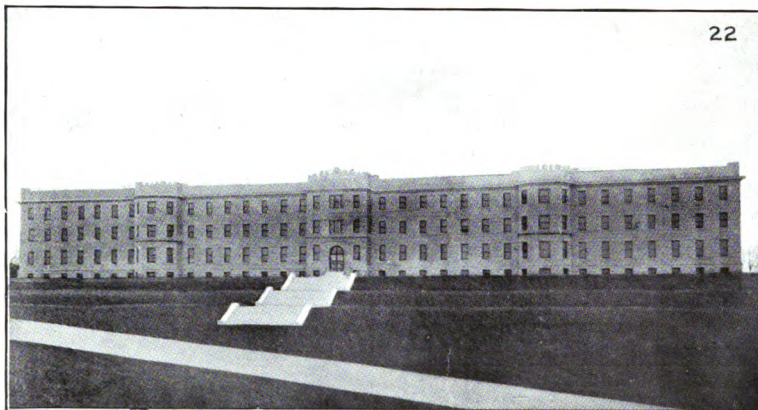

Full reports kindly sent by Dr. D. H. Arthur, Superintendent.

Watertown State Hospital (Illinois).
Under Homœopathic Control. For the Insane only.

Number of beds, 1,500. (Name used to be Illinois Western Hospital). State appropriation allowed by last Legislature, on a basis of 1,500 patients per annum, was $175,000. (This was inadequate by $49,000.) Percentage of recoveries, July 1st, 1906, to June 30th, 1908, 45.53 per cent. Percentages of recoveries, July 1st, 1909, to June 30th, 1910, 39.02 per cent. (Percentages of recoveries, July 1st, 1908, to June 30th, 1909, was only 24.32 per cent., "which was occasioned by the admission of chronic cases drafted from other Institutions (old school)."

See Sixth and Seventh Biennial (State) Reports.

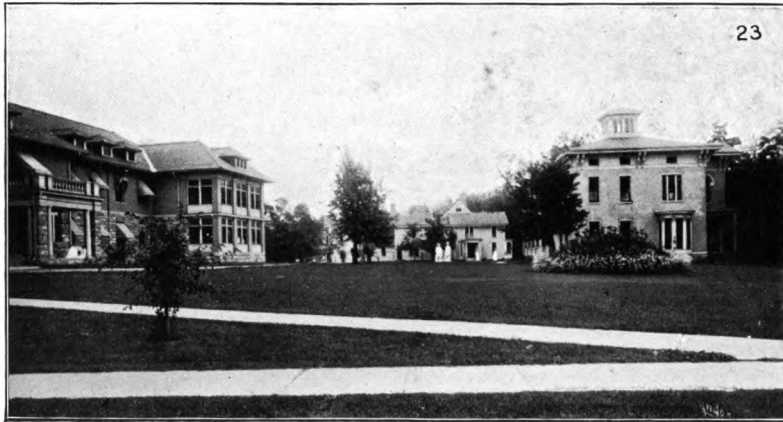

Watertown State Hospital (Illinois).
Under Homœopathic Control. For the Insane only.

This "ANNEX" shows that the State approved of our work in a substantial manner. Number of beds, 1,500. Percentage of cures on "all cases admitted," July 1st, 1906, to June 30th, 1908, 45.53 per cent. (See Sixth Biennial (State) Report.

See also illustration 21.

Full reports kindly sent by Dr. J. H. Horner, Secretary American Institute of Homœopathy.

University of Michigan. Homœopathic Department.

Besides the Collegiate Department, there are various Hospital buildings, all supported by the State for the Homœopaths.

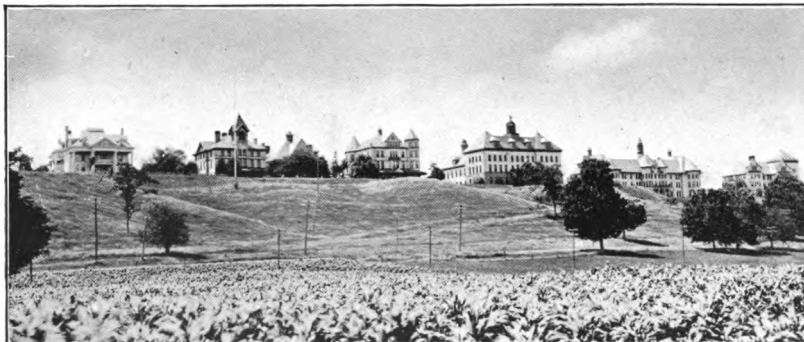

This view gives the Sun Parlours of our Hospital building, the Women's Surgical Wards Department and some of the Nurses' Cottages. Enlargements in most departments are under consideration (1913). We emphasize this, our connection with a STATE University. Iowa and Massachusetts States also honour Homœopathy with State Collegiate (Medical) Departments.

A Homœopathic "Prison Test" in Michigan.

	Average No. of Convicts per An.	Total No. of deaths.	Total No. of days labour lost.	Total cost of Hospital Stores.
Under Allopathic treatment in 1857-8-9	435	39	23,000	$1,678
Under Homœopathic Treatment in 1860-1-2	545	20	10,000	$500
Under Allopathic Treatment in 1870-71			24,000	$1,800
Under Homœopathic Treatment in 1873-74			11,000	$900

1872 was halved to each School. Number of Convicts was larger in 1873-74 than ever before. "Politics" took this Prison out of Homœopathic hands, but the "Lesson" resulted in a State University Department and an Insane Asylum in Michigan. (See illustrations 23 and 24.) Particulars kindly sent by Dr. Byron G. Clark.

Homœopathic State Hospital, Ionia, Michigan. For Insane only.

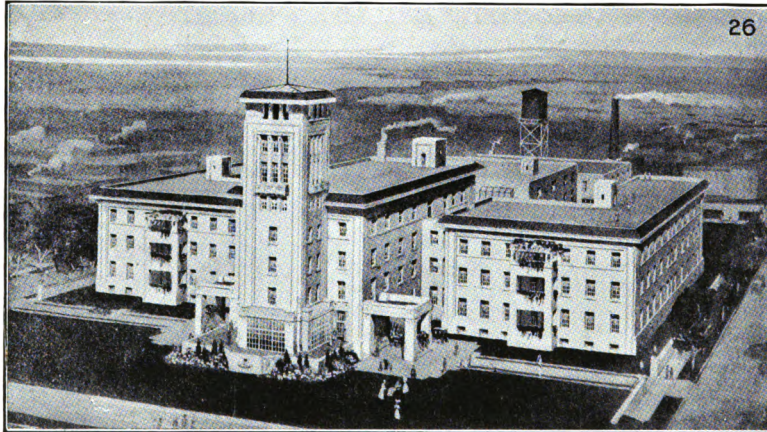

Incorporated 1883. Supported entirely by State and county appropriations. Built in separate departments, to more easily segregate patients according to improving conditions, classifications, etc. Being enlarged continually as required.

Hahnemann Hospital—San Francisco, Cal.
(N. E. Corner Sacramento and Maple Streets)

About 160 beds. Cost about £20,000 (showing economy of construction per bed capacity). Highest class fireproof brick and ferro-concrete (earthquake only damaged VERY SLIGHTLY). Has incline planes (rubbered), besides usual lifts, to wheel patients easily from one floor to another, or for emergency exit. Has Solarium garden under roof for convalescents. For paying partially paying and free patients, and is one (one of five) clinical adjuncts to the Hahnemann Medical College of the Pacific.

Full report kindly sent by Dr. J. W. Ward, Dean.

Memorial Hahnemann Hospital, Chicago, Illinois.

Being built on a whole block of land donated by one lady.

The old Hahnemann Hospital (170 beds) was not large enough. This new hospital is being constructed for 260 beds, with arrangements for eighty-five further beds in the nurses' wing. The Maternity department has 1,200 cubic feet air space per bed. An Assembly Hall, with 300 seats, for lectures. Swimming tank. Solariums. Fire-proofed. Cost $900,000 to $1,000,000. Nurses, 150. Staff, 80. Death rate Hahnemann Hospital, 1908-1912 inclusive, 5.02 per cent.

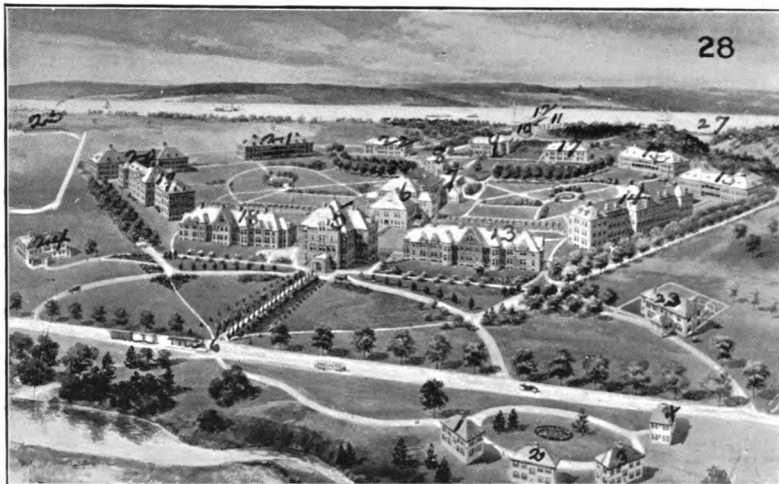

Full reports kindly sent by Dr. J. Pettie Cobb,
